

well-being agenda

Well-being Needs of Children and Youth

Portland State University Child Welfare Partnership Training Unit | 626 High Street NE, Suite 400
Salem, OR 97301 | cwpsalem.pdx.edu | (503) 315-4267

Monday, June 25

Developmental Issues and Impacts of Maltreatment

Joanna Crawford
Rafael Reynoso

9:00 – 4:30

- Apply knowledge of normal child development to a case study.
- Recognize how normal developmental pathways are disrupted by abuse, neglect, and trauma, and the impact on child functioning.
- Identify factors that may impact how a child presents developmentally including heredity, environment, gender, and culture.
- Recognize indicators that a child may have developmental, behavioral, mental health, physical health, or educational issues and the treatments, interventions, and services used to address these issues.
- Know caseworker roles and responsibilities in identifying developmental, mental health, physical health, and behavioral issues for children.
- Identify ways to involve children, parents, foster parents, and other parties in communicating, planning for, and meeting children's developmental needs.
- Know how to incorporate knowledge of development, delays, concerns, and assessment results into case planning for children and families.

Tuesday, June 26

Identity Development (Learning Circle 9:30 – 11:30)

Joanna Crawford
Rafael Reynoso

9:00 – 12:00

- Recognize the indications of healthy and unhealthy identity development in children.
- Identify strategies that enhance healthy identity development.
- Know how to facilitate discussions with young adults and families regarding identity.

The Holistic Child

Rafael Reynoso
Joanna Crawford

1:00 – 4:30

- Know how to gather and analyze information from a variety of sources to compile holistic information that forms a complete picture of the child.
 - Know the value in honoring cultural and familiar relationships, and how it assists in gathering complete information about a child.
 - Know how to use the ecological model to conceptualize child and family dynamics.
 - Know how to use strengths-based language when communicating about a child.
-

well-being agenda

Wednesday, June 27

Resilience and Connection

Rafael Reynoso
Frannie McMahon

9:00 – 12:00

- Know the importance of resilience in promoting health, well-being, and attachment and how to recognize and evaluate resilience in trauma impacted children.
- Identify factors that enhance resilience in children.
- Know the responsibilities of caseworkers and caregivers in identifying, building, and maintaining resilience in children in substitute care.
- Identify strategies that enhance significant relationships and build resilience and connections for children.

The Child's Team

Frannie McMahon
Rafael Reynoso

1:00 – 4:30

- Become familiar with services available to meet a child's mental health, physical health, and behavioral needs and how to access services through various referral processes.
- Identify important members of a child's team and how to utilize them in supporting children and young adults.
- Know strategies to help caregivers and parents identify and advocate for services to meet their child's needs.
- Identify ways to effectively engage and work with partners on a team.

Thursday, June 28

Transitions

Joanna Crawford
Frannie McMahon

9:00 – 12:00

- Identify types of transitions and considerations in planning for each.
- Know how to create effective transition plans.

Supporting Placements and Youth Panel

Frannie McMahon
Joanna Crawford

1:00 – 4:30

- Become familiar with the Foster Child Bill of Rights and ways to ensure these rights are realized.
- Identify ways in which caseworkers can best serve the children and young adults on their caseloads.
- Identify strategies to address potential placement concerns and ensure that safety, permanency, and well-being needs are being met.